

Home is Where the Music Plays

Words and Music by Steven Brandick © 2007

ALL THESE YEARS LATER

We're worlds apart. That's what they said.
We'd go our separate ways
and it soon would end.
Nothing in common. It's just all wrong.
All these years later,
we're still rocking along

What's we've got in common is strong, strong love.
Keeps us close through the tough times
keeps us tight yes it does.
We're still together. Still going strong
All these years later,
we're still rocking along

You're more than my better half.
I'm not whole when we're apart.
I'd be lost without you baby.
One soul. One heart.

Maybe opposites do attract.
Maybe difference adds spice.
Whatever it may be,
we've got it and got it twice.
We've got the magic.
We've got the song.
All these years later,
we're still rocking along.